TEXAS CROP INCOME OVER $1 BILLION

Texas Crop Income Over $1 Billion

Despite bugs and bad weather, Texas field crops in 1951 were valued at more than $1,250,000,000, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said Wedneday.

It was the fourth consecutive year that crops exclusive of livestock, poultry and dairy products were worth more than $1,000,000,000.

The exact figure for 1950 was $1,234,416,000 or 22 per cent under the value of 1949's crops, the USDA figured.

Cotton continued to be king of the money crops.

The value of cotton line was placed at $561,011,000 and cotton-seed at $108,568,000. Grain sorghums, with record production, were valued at $154,771,000, second to cotton.

The value of commercial crops produced for the fresh market was placed at $38,229,000, 7 per cent greater than in 1949.

The reduction in total value of all crops was blamed by the USDA almost entirely to the drop in quantity production. Unit prices of nearly all field crops, and nearly half the truck crops, were above the 1949 figure.

Interest In Bond Election Seen Here

The City Council convened in regular session Tuesday night with considerable discussion concerning the bond election that will soon be voted on by the citizens of the city.

The right-of-way on Highways 36 and 190 is still the Talk of the Town. Much interest has been stressed by members of the council in expediting bond election to purchase the right-of-way. A special meeting will be called in a few days for completing plans on the progress of the election and it is not known here whether the company that bid on the warrants will take up the bonds in securing the right-of-way.

Civic leaders and business men are anticipating with great interest that progress on the right-of-way will soon be in order.

Discussion on lease of the Municipal Airport was brought up but no definite action was taken on the matter, Harry Rogers of Marlin who recently appeared before the city council for the purpose of leasing the airport was present.

Mr. Rogers operates an airport in Marlin and is well known over central Texas as a competent manager. The Jaycees also recently had a representative appear before the council desiring lease of the airport as they plan to sponsor a Fair sometime in the fall of 1951.

Nothing exciting happened. The regular routine of paying bills and other minor items were brought up.

W. A. Morrison And Other Judges Are Sworn In Tuesday

AUSTIN, Jan. 2. Oaths of office were administered Tuesday to three members of the Texas Supreme court and a newly elected judge of the coura of criminal Appeals.

Will Wilson, former Dallas district attorney, was sworn in as a new member of the supreme court, and oaths also were administered to Robert W. Calvert and Meade F. Griffin. Each elected last year to full six-year terms.

Calvert was appointed to the court last September and Griffin has served under an appointment by the late Gov. Beauford Jester since April, 1949.

W. A. Morrison took his seat as a judge of the court of criminal appeals. He formerly was district judge here.

The criminal appeals court announced that Judge Harry N. Graves will assume duties as presiding judge, succeeding Frank L. Hawkins, 84-year-old judge who retired after 30 years service on the appeals court.

Meter Collection Increase Noted

The parking meter revenue for the week ending Thursday December 28 totaled $268.62, according to Marshall Terry, officer in charge of collection.

Mr. Terry said this was a good return for the week since Monday was a holiday and the collection was for five days instead of the usual six. He said that Mrs. Canasta was still parking at the No Parking signs on the corners at the Court House Square and that Mr. Canasta was equally as bad. He said this was a dangerous place to park since the car extends into the street beyond parking limits and this could easily cause a wreck.

The parking meters are still taking in over $1,000.00 a month and since the City Council has authorized this money to be set up as a permanent street fund, this revenue will be very beneficial to the city in retiring some of the bonds to be voted on in securing the right-of-way on Highways 36 and 190.

These meters have not cost the city one cent. The Twin Meter Sales Company of San Antonio installed these meters at their expense and the Company allows $50 a month for service inspection of the meter boxes, which more than pays the salary for the mechanic hired by the city to take care of repairs on the boxes.

Businessmen generally and civic leaders are beginning to realize the advantages of the meter system and the revenue coming in each month will be very helpful to the city.

The work of re-topping of Highway 190 through Santa Fe Town is being praised by merchants and businessmen in that section of the City. This project has been greatly neded for several months as businessmen have had their curbing ready for sometime. The street committee on the city council recently had the majority of the fox holes in the streets repaired but some sections of the city are still in bad condition. The continued dry weather has made it dif-

Texas Again Leads In Violent Deaths

At least thirty died in traffic mishaps since 6 p. m. Friday when the heavy New Year's travel got under way. Twenty-one died from other causes. Bullets claimed nine lives and fires four.

Texas' fifty-one violent deaths was far more than reported in California, in second place in the tragic standings.

During the Christmas week end more than 100 persons died in Texas from violent causes.

For the Christmas-NewYear holiday week, the Department of Public safety in Austin reported 166 violent deaths. These included eigty-six traffic deaths. Forty-four were caused by other accidents, including fires. The department listed thirty-six homicides and suicides.

In the nation as a whole, at least 380 persons met violent deaths during the holiday period.

The men plead guilty in open court and punishment was assessed at a fine of $50.00 and license suspended for six months.

Texas Draft Calls For 4,145 In March

State Selective Service headquarters has been ordered to draft 4,145 Texans in March, Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield announced Tuesday.

General Wakefield, state director of Selective Service, said the March Call would bring to 22,912 the number of Texas men inducted since the start of the Korean war.

Local board qnotas for March will not be determined until late this month or early in February, but they are expected to be practically the same as those for January and February.

All of the men drafted thus far, and those to be inducted through March, will go to the Army. It is the only branch of the armed forces that has requested manpower under the Selective Service act.

Gen. Walker Given Hero's Last Rites

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2— A grateful government gave a fourth star and an impressive hero's funeral to its foremost Korean war casualty—Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker of Belton.

The body of the tough little Texan, killed in an accident while leading the U. S. 8th army in Korea, was buried with highest military honors in Arlington National cemetery among the honored dead of past wars.

Mourners in addition to his widow and soldier son, Capt. Sam Walker, included Gen. George C. Marshall and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, his friends of many years.

The three stars, denoting the rank of lieutenant general, on the tunic of the dead hero inside the sealed casket once had been worn by Eisenhower and passed on to his friend.

One hour before the funeral President Truman signed a resolution raising Walker's rank post-humously to that of a full four-star general.

The resolution was sped through congress in recognition of Walkers record of military achievement in three wars, climaxed by his heroic leadership of the Korean defenses against the overwhelming communist hordes.

It was a rare and special tribute to the colorful 61-year-old soldier who, like his European commander in World War II, Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., was a two-gun tank man and died in a traffic accident at the peak of his career.

Walker was killed Dec. 23 in a jeep-truck collision on a road north of embattled Seoul. His body was flown the 7,000 miles home for the burial rites accorded the nation's military heroes.

The services began shorthly before 8 a. m. when an honor guard of the 3rd infantry removed the casket from a vault near Gen. Robert E. Lee's old home in Arlington cemetery to a small white chapel in nearby Fort Myer.

New Years Eve Calm Quiet And Peaceful

The New Year made its appearance in the City Monday with its usual apathy, with only a few stores and business places open during the day.

Much of the gaiety usually displayed on New Year's Eve and Day did not make its appearance this year. The traditional shooting of fire works and the blowing of horns was heard as citizens here welcomed in the New Year. Many parties were held over the week end in the homes and elsewhere but on the whole everything was rather quiet.

A report from the Sheriff's Office early this morning disclosed that with

BILLY GRAHAM

Evangelist To Speak In Dallas Jan. 9

Billy Graham, dynamic young evangelist known for preaching to huge crowds from coast to coast, has added Dallas to the list of Texas cities where he will speak early in 1951.

Graham will speak Tuesday evening, January 9, before the annual statewide Baptist Evangelistic Conference. The conference will meet from Monday evening, January 8. to Wednesday noon in Dallas' First Baptist Church.

More than 5,000 pastors and laymen from all over the state are expected to hear Graham and 30 other denominational speakers. The purpose of the conference is to explain to Texas Baptists the need and methods for winning 250,000 new Christians in 1951.

The goal of a quarter-million new Christians this year was set by the Baptist General Convention of Texas meeting in Fort Worth in November. This number does not refer only to new church members and will not include Baptists who move their membership from one church to another.

He was a native of Milam County, being born and reared in the City of Cameron and was well known throughout the entire county and was the member of one of the pioneer families that was instrumental in the early development of the city.

Medical Men Not Registered To Sign

Draft headquarters announced Thursday doctors, dentists and veternarians under 50 years and not now registered will sign up for the draft on Jan. 15.

Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey estimated about 210,000 of these professional men must register. Another 21,000, mostly younger men, were signed up on the first dictor registration day October 16.

Dr. Richard L. Meiling, director of medical service for the defense department told a reporter that about 13,000 doctors will be needed under the present plans to expand the military services to 3,500,000 men.

He said just about all of those in the first priority group, who received their training at government expense under the World War II training program, or who were deferred to complete their training, but served less than 90 days, probably will be alled up in the next six months. These men already are registered.

'Walker Dam' Is Offered As Name For Leon Project

KILLEEN, —State Legion Commander Bill Elkins of Killeen telegraphed Senators Tom Connally and Lyndon Johnson and Rep. W. R. (Bob) Poage today urging the naming of the Belton dam as "Walker Dam" in honor of the late Gen. Walton Walker.

Gen. Walker, Eighth Army commander who was killed in Korea, is a native of Belton and held in high esteem throughout Central Texas. Mr. Elkins pointed out. He was given a lifetime membership in the Belton American Legion post.

Mr. Elkins said he suggested the naming after the famed general as a "fitting tribute" to his memory.

The Central Texas communities in the dam area formally agreed, in 1949 to ask that the dam be named for Senator Connally, and a delegation led by Frank W. Mayborn, chairman of the area committee for the project, and Dr. A. C. Scott, Jr., presented the formal request to the Senator in Washington. Senator Connally declined, expressing his thanks, but stating firmly that he adhered to the unwritten rule that such projects not be named for living members of congress or other public officials. The request, however, was not rescinded by the area group.

Government Orders Seen Within Month

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—An informed government official said Friday that nationwide meat rationing will be ordered into effect "within a very short time."

The official said price conrols will be placed on meats and that the action will be accompanied by price curbs on many other food commodities and essentials of life.

He stated that the government order for meat rationing is now planned for issuance "within three months" but may come sooner.

The official machinery for handling a return to meat rationing, including a coupon system and the licensing of slaughterers, is "now in the works."

The official said meat rationing and price conorols would make necessary curbs on corn and all other cereals used in the feeding of livestock.

He declared that strict licensing of all slaughterers will be an essential part of a meat rationing program to guard against the widespread black-market in meat that prevailed during World War II.

Reds Reach UN Line At Seoul Wednesday

With the U. S. 24th Division, Korea, Wednesday, January 3. Chinese Communist forces broke through the center of the 24th Division north of Seoul Wednesday.

The breakthrough was made just before noon and at least one Red regiment was streaming toward the South Korean capital against little opposition.

The 8th Army announced a general withdrawal all along the 140-mile front in Korea as Chinese Communists smashed to within eight miles of Seoul behind a shield of refugees.

The Chinese began the battle for Seoul with a massive attack behind hundreds of refugees they had driven into the U. N. positions ahead of them. The drive brought the South Korean capital within artillery range for the first time.

The Reds smashed through Uijongbu with heavy tanks and mounted machineguns down the main north road to Seoul, the virtually deserted capital of South Korea.

The big attack quickly achieved its breakthrough at a soft spot between British and American Forces.

An American unit in the same area with the British was attacked from the rear as the enemy smashed through the Allied defenses. The Chinese were beaten off, but their location was not known and they were expected to strike another direction at any time.

The Chinese were infiltrating UN positions by mixing with the refugees and a high ranking frontline officer noted that they "are attacking Americans frontally for the first tme. I don't think they like it. Our firepower is killing lots of them."

The grave new threat to Seoul made the government decide to evacuate the city, menacer by a twin-pronged attack from the North and Northwest. The city itself was a mad-house of panic-stricken South Koreans fleeing toward the Han River.

Fanatical Chinese Communist infantry hordes ignored the rain of death from the skies which inflicted "fantastic casualties" and surged forward in massive attacks to splinter American and British defenses before the city.

The most immediate threat to Seoul came from the northwest where Chinese Communists renewed their major offensive in a drive that captured Koyang, less than 10 miles away and rolled on to within eight miles ofthe city.

But the Chinese also were pressing down from the north, directly above Seoul, from captured Uijonkbu, 11 miles away. The enemy increased pressure here throughout the day after dawn attacks.

The attacking troops took advantage of low hanging ground fog which hampered aerial observation and ef-

Red Smash Threat To Allied Front

TOKYO, Jan. 2, (Tuesday)—Chinese Red hordes have driven a third of the way from the thirty-tighth parallel to Seoul. This suggested an advance of about thirteen miles.

The big offensive, launched New Year's Eve threatened to "split the western front wide open," the dispatch said.

A South Korean division was overrun and United Nations forces on its flanks had to pull back at the outset of the big push.

Allied forces defending Seoul Tuesday retreated from the thirty-eighth parallel.

Seoul, already deserted by two thirds of its more than 1,000,000 inhabitants is thirty-five air miles south of the thirty-tighth parallel.

Heavy fighting throughout New Year's night north of Seoul as hard hit South Korean troops strove to contain the enemy was reported.

The veteran South Korean 1st Division as the U. N. force which was shattered and overrun at the outset of the offensive by 200,000 Chinese and 85,000 North Koreans.

A small Chinese column punched through the exposed point, wheeled east and attacked an American division.

The exact front to be defended was a military secret, but it represented a major pullback and a big sag in the defense line across South Korea.

Monday night engineers of the retreating U. N. divisions set afire command post buildings and even whole villages.

C E Lieberman
Master Brewer, Gulf Brewing Co.

What does "Pale Dry" mean?

Pale Dry is the name we brewmasters call this new kind of beer because it is pale gold in color and sharply dry in flavor.

How do we brew pale dry beer?

It takes unusually fine ingredients and careful control of the brewing process to brew a pale dry beer. We use the freshest hops obtainable. The malt is prepared according to a private formula. Pure, deep-rock artesian water and top-grade Texas rice are used exclusively in brewing Pale Dry GRAND PRIZE Beer, and every barrel is given abundant time to age.

Decorated Can Will Be Given To Milk Bowl Champions

A handsomely decorated milk can will be awarded to the victor of the Second Annual Milk Bowl classic set for Baylor Stadium Saturday.

Public relations Director Tom Fox of the New Orleans Recreation Department will present the trophy to the Waco Jaycees at their noon luncheon in the Roosevelt Hotel. The can is accompanied by a letter from the New Orleans Jaycees, the donors, saying that rescent City fans expect the New Orleans Mighty Mites to return it home.

Meanwhile, Coach J. C. Collier of Mexia still getting over the job of being one of Santa's busiest helpers, is busy getting his Pee Wees in shape for the big battel. The Railway Express Agent said yesterday that he "expects to make it interesting for the touted boys from New Orleans," despite the fact that his team played only four games due to a late start.

Collier will rely on his gifted fullback, Bobby Lott, to pull his team through to a good showing against the highly favored Mites.

An added attraction of the Milk Bowl will be several Southwest conference gridders who will act as chain bearers for the tussle.

Blalock, Democrat Leader Dies At 59

MARSHALL, Dec. 28—Myron G. Blalock, Texas Democratic Party leader who did much to rally Texas to the support of Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, died Thursday.

The 59 year old lawyer died of a heart attack at his Marshall home before dawn.

Blalock, a slender man with graying hair, was a national committeeman from Texas from 1940 up into the postwar years. He was a former civil appeals court judge, a former state legislator, and was President Roosevelt's 1936 and 1940 campaign manager.

He was best known for his efforts to keep Texas Democrats in line behind the administration and presidential nominees.

His role was that of peace-maker between warring factions of the party. But where he failed to make peace, he threw his support solidly to the administration. He was a party man and intensely loyal to the party's nominees.

Because of his heart condition, Blalock quit the post of committeeman in 1948. Wright Morrow of Houston succeeded him.

His wife, son and two daughters were at the Blalock home Wednesday night because of the holidays. Blalock, who suffered his last heart attack two years ago, was feeling fine. About 4 a. m. he had a heart attack but seemed to recover. A second attack came and he did not survive.

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Friday at the First Methodist Church with Rev. Guy Jones, pastor, officiating. The body was at the home until noon, when it was taken to the church.

Holiday Death In Texas Reach 111

Texas, holiday violent deaths had climbed to 111 by 4 p. m. Thursday.

The Texas Department of Public Safety reported the new toll included 58 traffic fatalities, 26 suicides and homicides and 27 other accidental deaths since 12:01 a. m. Dec. 23.

The total was exactly 100 short of the toll predicted by the Department of Public Safety for the holiday period ending midnight Jan. 1. The prediction included 105 traffic fatalities.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Cammer of Brownwood spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Howard of Dallas were week end guests in the home of Mrs. Nina Wilkerson.

Increased Draft Quotas Expected

An extra call has ben issued for the Month of December for 14 men from Milam County for pre-induction physicals, it was announced by August G. Kunz, chairman of the Milam County Draft Board.

This is the ninth call for men from Milam County for pre-induction physicals since the beginning of the Korean hostilities. These men left Cameron early Friday Morning December 29, by bus for the Dallas Recruiting Station and returned Saturday.

There has been two calls issued for the month of January, for 22 men each on the 17 and the 22nd of the month. They will also report to the Dallas Recruiting Station for examinations. Quotas will be increased during the months of February and March to meet the heavy demand for manpower in the government defense program and if the present hike of 80 percent in Texas counties continues to stay in force, this county may be called on to furnish 50 to 60 men during the months that will insue to meet the desperate situation that now exists.

Local board quotas for calls for the month of February will be made up and sent to the local boards some time after the first of the year. Calls are usually sent to the boards about a month before deliveries are to be made.

Seven men reported for induction into the armed services Thursday December 14 from Milam County and 14 are to be inducted in January 12 from this county also. Since the world situation is becoming more serious every day, the government will soon be given complete control over other things that are essential for national defense as well as the drafting of manpower.

J. L. Adams Buried In Oak Hill Monday

J. L. Adams, 78, member of a prominent family of Cameron and Milam County died at his home on North Travis Sunday December 31 at 5:30 A. M.

Mr. Adams had been ill for a number of years and his condition had been very critical for several days prior to his death. He was a native of Macon County, Alabama, born February 24, 1872 and came to Texas as a boy 10 years old. He had lived in Milam County for almost 68 years and in the city of Cameron the major portion of his life.

Mr. Adams was overseer at the Milam County Farm Home for a number of years when a young man but had retired several years ago. He had seen much of the progress in the city and was a resident here when the first railroad was built through Cameron. He was a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge.

Funeral services were held from the Chapel of the Marek-Burns FuneralHome Monday January 1, at 2 P. M. with Rev. Wendell Carr, pastor of the First Christian Church, conducting. Interment was in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. J. L. Adams of Cameron, one son Frank Adams of Houston, four daughters, Mrs. Ted Johnston of Pecos, Mrs. H. R. Gelmore of Houston, Mrs. Lavo Wegenhoft of Columbus and Mrs. W. H. Sellers Jr., of Houston; three brothers, Ed Adams of Cameron, O. D. Adams of Dallas and W. R. Adams of Orange. Nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild also survive.

Pallbearers were W. G. Harsha, J. L. Slaughter, B. L. Archer, Vaughn Jenness, Calvin Margham and Bert Nicholson.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gohmert of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. M. Stricker of Rockdale were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Gohmert Christmas Day.

Cpl. Donald Batte Here For Christmas; Wounded Twice In Korea

Cpl. Donald Batte, son of Mary Belle Batte, is visiting relatives and friends in Cameron and was a visitor in the Herald Plant early Friday morning.

Cpl. Batte who was wounded twice in the Fighting in Korea left Korea on December 16 and was flown to California. He said the plane brought a number of wounded boys from the front for the Christmas holidays and they stopped in Japan, Wake Island and Hawaii enroute home. He was in Korea 130 days and on the fighting front 95 days or a little over three months and said the Reds were plenty tough.

"Curly," as most of the people here know him by that name, said the allied forces were in bad need of supplies, chiefly gasoline and men and for several days at a time they were unable to get gasoline in order to move to new positions and would have to wait until a supply reached them. He told of what the boys on the front lines thought of the people who were striking in this country and said they were the ones that should be facing those Reds.

Cpl. Batte said the majority of the men fighting were in their teens or early twenty's and many of the top Sergeants who were killed in the Trap by the Communists were so greatly missed that many of the lower rank and the unexperienced men were confused in retreating back to the 38th parellel. He said he experienced much of the bitter cold weather and how the Reds had the advantages over UN forces since they were accustomed to the freezing temperatures.

He will leave for Camp Stoneman in California January 15 and may return to Korea if the situation continues in its grave outlook.

Cpl. Batte said he enjoyed being here for Christmas very much and was glad to be back in the Friendly City among friends and relatives.

Safeguards Ordered On Doctors Draft

The defense department announced a program Wednesday to make certain that American communities do not suffer a serious shortage of physicians and dentists when the armed forces step up induction of professional men.

The program also is designed to speed the induction of physicians and dentists who were trained at government expense during World War II, saw no active service will be called deemed essential to their communities.

Government-trained physicians who saw no active service will be called first. Local draft board advisory committees will decide which are essential to their communities and these will be deferred unless the armed services and Defense Secretary George C. Marshall decides the Army needs them more.

The health resources advisory committee of the National Security Resources Board, working with state and local draft officials, will advise the armed services on civilian needs. Marshall and the services presumably will gear their demands to the committees recommendations.

The armed services now decide pretty much on their own whether a doctor is essential to his community.

The new program is aimed at bringing into active service medical reserve officers not in organized reserve units. It is part of President Truman's goal to expand the armed services to 3,500,000 men as soon as possible.

Missioner And Founder To Lecture In Dallas Monday Night

Father James Keller of the Maryknoll Missioners and founder of the Christophers, will lecture in Dallas Monday night, Jan. 8, at Fair Park Auditorium. His appearance is being sponsored by the Christian Culture Series, a new concert and lecture course in Dallas offered by the Dallas Danery of the National Council of Catholic Women.

Father Keller is widely known as the author of the record-breaking seller, "You Can Change The World," which he published as a guide to the Christopher movement. He has recently published a new volume titled "Three Minutes A Day."

The Christophers is a non-sectarian movement dedicated to restore into American life, both public and private, the basic fundamentals of Christian civilization upon which this country was founded. In five years this great movement has grown to include 200,000 Catholics, Protestants and Jews, all united to bring Christian principles into the fields of government, labor, communications and education.

Father Keller's subject in his Dallas lecture will be "Change The World, Or It Will Change You." Patrons who do not have season tickets for the Christian Culture Course but would like to hear this lecture may order single admission tickets, at $2.50 each, by writing Christian Culture Series offices, 9807 Redondo Drive, Dallas. Snow And Rain Bring Help To Farmers In West Texas Area

The longest winter drouth in recent years was relieved but not broken Tuesday when snow and rain moistened the parched fields of West Texas.

But throughout most of the region winter wheat was in a critical condition ,farmers were worried about the dry fields which may cause delays in spring planting, and pastures still were in need of rain.

Rain, which nowhere was much better than a good drizzle, fell over a large area in the early morning hours preceding light to moderate snows that were blown into West Texas by a cold front.

Temperatures were scheduled to drop as low as 15 in the Panhandle and 32 in other parts of West Texas.

Freezing rain iced some highways and brought a highway patrol warning against any but emergency night travel in the Panhandle and South Plains.

Rains—from drizzles to heavy falls washed over other sections of the state. Any moisture was welcome, but the extent to which the drouth was

SS Representative To Be Here Tuesday

A representative of the Austin social security office will be at the Department of Public Welfare in Cameron at 1:00 P. M. next on Tuesday, January 2. He especially wants to see people age 65 or over, whose claims for old-age insurance payments were previously rejected because of insufficient periods of work in a social security covered job.

Under the amended law, a worker now 65 years of age needs only six quarters of coverage acquired at any time since 1936 to be eligible for benefits. The Social Security representative urges these people to come to the Department of Public Welfare office at 1:00 P. M. on January 2 and file new claims for old-age and survivors insurance under the new social security law.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Robinson during the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Chapman of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moon of Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Berry Westbrook of Hearne, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. 8th Army Troops Fall Back 10 Miles

UNITED STATES EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Dec. 29. (Friday)— Heavy Communist pressure has forced United States Eighth Army troops to withdraw up to about ten miles on the east flank in Korea.

Reported heavier concentrations on the central and eastern parts of the 150-mile front.

As patrol clashes along the front continued, Gen. Douglas MacArthur warned that up to 190,000 Communists could hit the United Nations Korean line in force between Jan. 1 and 10.

MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters banned identification of Allied ground units in Korea below Army level. Only the broad designations of United Nations forces may be used until further notice.

The news blackout on unit designations could mean that major fighting was imminent on the western front.

Communist troops have occupied Kaesong, two miles south of the thirty eighth parallel and forty miles northwest of Seoul. United Nations forces withdrew from Kaesong five days ago.

Reds in the city, an ancient capital of a Korean kingdom, were strafed by United States Navy Corsair pilots.

Kaesong's location, astride one of the main highways and rail routes from North Korea to Seoul, could make it an important massing point for the Red hordes girding for an expected full scale drive against the United Nations defense line ranged across Korea just south of the thirty-eighth parallel.

General MacArthur said in a statistical review of Chinese Red army movements that four more armies were moving up in support.

The combined force—nineteen divisions or up to 190,000 men— could strike southward across the parallel in force any time after Jan. 1, MacArthur said.

MacArthur also said that Red China was directing operations of the Communist armies in Korea and that the Chinese government in Peiping had appropriated 8,000,000,000 Chinese silver dollars (roughly $4,000,000,000 for war purposes in '51, "Probably the biggest military budget in Chinese history."

Jack King and his four children of Texas City were joined in Cameron by his daughter, Beverly Ann for a trip to California where they spent the Christmas holidays with relatives and friends.

T. P. & L. Company To Sponsor Power Technique At Show

"Productive Power," a dramatic presentation of improved industrial techniques, will be staged at Taylor on Friday, January 5. Sponsored by Texas Power & Light Company, the show was arranged by the Westinghouse Electric Corporation and will demonstrate to manufacturers how to use these improved techniques to produce better, faster, and cheaper electrically. Industrialists are especially invited to see this show.

Productive Power is currently on a tour of 125 cities which will take it into every state. The performance at Tyler will be held at American Legion Hall and will begin at 3 p. m.

Plant improvements, improved plant processes, and methods of joining materials, which are fundamental problems in any manufacturing plant, are graphically demonstrated by three Westinghouse Engineers who are accompanying the show.

The show opens with a graphic display of the effects of wire size and circuit protection on factory electrical distribution systems. A wire loaded beyond its capacity causes a sheet of paper folded over it to burst into flame. Loss of productivity, because of inadequate wiring, is demonstrated on lighting, heating, and motor loads. Poor lighting facilities are contrasted with a modern lighting system to show how proper illumination helps increase production and cut accident rates.

Smoke and dirt particles as small as 1-250,000 of an inch are snatched from the air in a demonstration with an electrostatic air cleaner. Infra-red radiation proves its superiority over conventional methods as a paint dryer in a speed test conducted by one of the engineers. The infra red dries the paint in less than five minutes, while air drying and convection drying has barely started.

A machine gun-like resistance welder demonstrates how to obtain up to 600 separate spot welds per minute. High frequency radio waves are used to cook glue for wood bonding in another demonstration. Production time is cut from eight hours to thirty five second by using so-called Dielectric heating.

Full color sound motion pictures illustrate the use of electric furnaces for brazing operations and radio frequency induction heating in production lines of actual plants.

Government Estimates 7,500 Doctors To Be In Jan. 15 Registration

State Selective Service headquarters expects about 7,500 doctors, dentists and veterinarians to register under provisions of the medical draft law on January 15.

Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, estimated that about 10 times the number registered in October will register in January.

The State Selective Service director said that his estimate was based on information received from Major General Lewis B. Hershey, national director, and Mr. Todd Bates, executive secretary of the state advisory committee created under the medical draft law.

All physicians, dentists, and veterinarians who have not reached their fiftieth birthday on January 15, except members of the regular or reserve components of the armed services, are required to register on January 15.

Also exempted from this January registration, General Wakefield pointed out, are those physicians, dentists and veterinarians who registered under the medical draft law on October 16.

Less than 750 physicians, dentists, and veternarians registered in compliance with the law on October 16. This figure exceeded state Selective Service expectations, General Wakefield said. Only those educated at government expense or who were deferred to complete medical training were required to register in October.

There are approximately 10,000 doctors, dentists and veternarians in Texas. When the January registration is complete, about 8,250 of them are expected to be on local board records, General Wakefield said.

NEW YEARS EVE—

the exception of a few spicy events on the Western and Eastern fronts everything was quiet over the week end.

The majority of the business establishments were open and back on the job early Tuesday morning as business was due to get back into the regular routine.

Many of the College Students were returning to the campus to resume studies Wednesday morning, after having spent the holidays with relatives and friends. Cameron Public Schools opened this morning, according to W. T. Hanes, Superintendent and all of the faculty was back on the job with a small percentage of the students absent, some on account of sickness.

Many football fans of the city attended the Cotton Bowl Game between Texas and Tennessee in Dallas Monday, seeing the Tennessee team come from behind to beat Texas 20-14 in the fading minutes of the game. This was a rugged tussle between two of the top teams of the nation as a light drizzle and showers occured during most of the game.

Moisture is still playing an important role for farmers and ranchers and of course the businessmen too. From indications of reports from the weather man Central Texas may be in for some rain in the next 24 to 36 hours. A good general rain will change the outlook for farmers over the county and state as many of the farmers in surrounding communities plant roasting-ear corn by mid-February to take advantage of the early market and higher prices.

Many uncertain conditions still exist but a bright and Prosperous New Year is being anticipated.

BAKING SODA CLEANS TEAPOT

Wintertime is hot tea time! Follow the rules for a tasty brew, but first make sure you've a clean fresh teapot. Rinse the pot with baking soda — 3 tablespoons to a pot of water — after each use. To clean the spout, wrap a piece of damp paper towel around a skewer, dip it into moist soda and then dig into the spout from inside and out. Rinse well — and you're off to another pot of delicious tea.

Work will continue on the bond election at the meeting of City Council next Tuesday night and citizens interested in the welfare of the city should be on hand to witness what might occur. The right-of-woy is still the important question of the day and discussion will be in order for Tuesday night at the City Hall at 7:30.
